- In February 2024, Dan Osborn claimed Congress should explore ways to legalize undocumented workers in the United States. “‘Without borders you don’t have a country,’ he said, though he added that once the border is closed, Congress should explore ways to legalize some undocumented workers already in the U.S.” (Jonathan Weisman, “A Union Leader in Nebraska Tries to Leap to the Senate on Labor’s Strength,” New York Times, 2/18/24)

- Dan Osborn has called for “immigrant labor” to fill open jobs in Nebraska and supports providing Social Security to illegal immigrants. Q: “So you would have supported this year’s border bill?” OSBORN: “I support the fact that it was going to supply 1500 more border agents to help stop the influx of sex trafficking, human trafficking, and fentanyl.” Q: “What would you want to do about people in the country illegally?” OSBORN: “We need some meaningful immigration reform. These people are our friends. They’re our neighbors. A lot of them have been here 30 years or more, and I think it’s time they get into Social Security already. There’s 80,000 open jobs in Nebraska that we can’t fill, that we can certainly use immigrant labor for. We need more immigration lawyers and judges, and we have to streamline the process, but at the same time, we do have to vet people. We don’t want to just allow willy-nilly people through that could be dangerous.” (David Weigel, “‘There’s No One Like Me In The Senate’: Union Leader Dan Osborn Looks For A Nebraska Upset,” SEMAFOR, 9/6/24)
